

Education System and Its Future in America Conference

Session 5: The Role of Policy in Shaping Education

This session will explore the significant impact of educational policies on the American education system. Participants will learn about current policies, their implications, and the role of policymakers in shaping the future of education.

Presentation 1: Analyzing Key Educational Policies

This presentation will provide an in-depth analysis of key educational policies that have shaped the American education system. The discussion will include the development, implementation, and outcomes of these policies.

Presenter: Dr. Katherine Brown

Presentation 2: The Role of Policymakers in Educational Reform

This presentation will explore the crucial role that policymakers play in driving educational reform. Case studies of successful policy interventions will be shared, along with insights into the policy-making process and its challenges.

Presenter: Sen. Mark Thompson